A Website

• In-text Citation Format

The Martin Luther King, Jr. Papers Project states that while younger activists admired King, tension was created when he decided to participate in 1961's Freedom Rides.

Paraphrase:

Original source's exact words:

- "Responsible parents of children who regularly use the Internet to research understand that being online and unsupervised is as dangerous as the infamous 'stranger' on the street." - From page 25 of Gregory Smith's 2006 article, "What Kids Find Online"

Paraphrase (the essay writer's words and sentence structure):

- Parents probably would not abandon their young children to the world outside the home, but Web searches without adult monitoring can be like playing alone in a park or beside a busy intersection (Smith, 2006).

*Note: The words and sentence structure of the source have changed, but the idea is the same and has APA in-text citation to give credit to the source
